This year's competition, based on the financial accounts of 2022, received an overwhelming response, with a record-breaking 238 entries. The BARA Awards, the flagship event organised by APFASL, aim to promote and uphold financial accounting and reporting standards in Sri Lanka, contributing to the enhancement of the overall quality of public financial management in the country.

The competition featured twelve categories covering both central government and local government institutions. Evaluation criteria included adherence to Ministry of Finance circulars related to financial account preparation and presentation, as well as compliance with Sri Lanka Public Sector Accounting standards.

The coveted titles of overall winners were awarded to six outstanding institutions from both the central government and provincial categories. The University of Sri Jaywardenepura claimed the gold award in the Central Government category, showcasing exceptional financial reporting practices, while the Southern Provincial Council emerged triumphant in the Local Government category, securing the top position.

The awards ceremony was graced by the presence of Mr. Niel Asoka Ranjith, Secretary to the Ministry of Public Administration, Home Affairs, Provincial Councils, and Local Government, who served as the chief guest.
